CADIZ KILLING.

Desperate Pistol Duel Between Two Dead Game Men,

Walter Brown Shot Dead and Officer Ed Summer Wounded Twice.

A desperate pistol fight occurred at Cadiz Saturday night, which resulted in the killing of Walter D. Brown and the wounding of Ed. Summer.

Summer is a carpenter 52 years old who was acting as special policeman in the absence of the regular policeman, who was in Hopkinsville.

Brown had been drinking during the day and the men met at Brown's livery stable, Pomp Redd being the only witness.

There was bad blood between the men, as the result of a scandal of a few years ago involving Summer's daughter.

Summer undertook to arrest Brown for disorderly conduct and in a moment they were pouring hot lead into each other. Both men were dead game. It is said that Brown attempted to draw his pistol and Summer opened fire.

At the first shot Brown was shot through. He clapped his hand to the wound and began getting out his pistol. He had to steady himself with his left hand against the door to shoot, leaving a bloody imprint of his hand on the door. Both men shot until their weapons were empty. Summer fired with deadly aim, hitting five times out of six Brown, though wounded to the death, hit Summer twice, some say three times. His left arm was shattered and a bulletlodged in his leg. The desperate men then clinched in a death grapple, until Brown fell. He died in fifteen minutes.

Brown conducted a livery stable and was about 35 years old and unmarried. Summer some years ago shot and killed a negro named Baker who was caught prowling around his house and ran when discovered.

Brown formerly lived in this city and his body was brought here yesterday for interment.

WOMAN THIS TIME.

Another Killing Reported From East of Town.

Becky McRae, col., Brained With an Axe by H. L. Nelson, a White Man.

Rebecca McRae, an old colored woman 65 years old, was killed with an axe at her home in Saluria Saturday afternoon, by a white man.

H. L. Nelson is in jail charged with the crime, but says he knows nothing about it.

Coroner Allensworth held an inquest Saturday night.

Richard Tandy testified that he saw a white man running with an axe in his hand going from where the woman was lying dead. He picked her up and carried her to her home.

Squire Holland said he saw a white man strike the woman with an axe. He was 200 yards away. The man was a tall, slim man with no hat on.

Ella Bronough said she saw a tall slim white man baredheaded pick up a rock and hit the fence near Becky McRae's house.

Bill McRae testified that his axe was been missing since shortly before the killing.

Paul Boyd testified that he saw Nelson after he was arrested. That he is tall and bald and that he saw the axe with blood on it.

The jury returned a verdict that Rebecca McRae came to her death by being struck on the head with some sharp instrument by some one unknown to the jury, but supposed to be Boyd (should be Lloyd) Nelson, a white man. One wound was about three inches long and another six inches long, both penetrating the cavity of the skull, the crime being willful murder.

Z. T. Rawlins was foreman.

Nelson, the man under arrest, is not positively identified and the evidence adduced at the coroner's inquest is all that is known.

Nelson is about 32 years old and up to a month ago lived with his brother, C. B. Nelson, near Hargis' bridge; since that time he had been at work for Wm. Phipps, near Trenton.

It is also charged that the same man who killed the woman near the same place met Joe Tandy, an old negro man in the road, and stabbed him in the neck three times with a pocket knife, making serious but not fatal wounds.

Nelson's brother says he has been subject to spells at times and it is also said he was drinking Saturday. He was arrested near Embrook Saturday afternoon soon after the killing, and brought to jail Sunday morning.

The woman killed was the wife of Wm. McRae. She was formerly a slave of the Lander family.

Many Shots Fired But No Bloodshed Results From Them—Dusky Damsel the Cause.

At a colored festival Saturday night, near Howell, Henry Campbell and Jessie Giles, two colored lotharios, fell out over a dusky damsel and exchanged shots until both had emptied their pistols. The fusilade sounded like a miniature battle, but after the smoke had cleared away it was found that none of the bullets had found lodgment in human flesh. The festival broke up in a general stampede.

At least a dozen shots were fired, but only one took effect. Coleman has served a term in the penitentiary.

An Ancient Foe

To health and happiness—Scoliosis—as tall as ever—was a mortal disease caused by the neck, disfigures the body, strains the intercostal membrane, wastes the muscles, weakens the bones, reduces the power of resistance to disease and the capacity for recovery and develops into consumption.

"A bunch appeared on the left side of my neck. It caused great pain, was lame, and became a running sore. I went into a general decline. I was prostrated. I have a large tumor on my neck. I have had taken six bottles of my neck was healed, and I have had a good deal of relief. I am well and strong.

manently, as they have rid thousands.

John Hendrick in opening his campaign for Governor laid great stress upon the ineligibility of Beckman for re-election. We can't see what the ineligibility of Gov.
Beckman has to do with the eligibility of John Hendrick, but on that point here is what the constitution says about the office of Governor:
"He shall be elected for a term of four years; he shall be ineligible for the succeeding four years," Breckinridge News.

Section 85 of the constitution provides that under certain conditions a governor may be elected for less than four years, to stand in the place of a man who was ineligible.

It further provides that a governor elected one "term" shall be ineligible for the next. The ablest lawyers Kentucky has produced in this generation say that a part of a term is a term in the eyes of the law, because a governor's term or terms is limited to four years. The legal definition for "term" is "the time for which anything lasts."

A governor's term may be four years or it may be less if it does not last four years. A term of court may be four weeks or it may be three weeks, if it starts a week late. A convict's term may be two years or it may be 20 months if he gets credit for good time, or it may be twenty weeks if he happens to be a gambler and stands in with the governor and touches the right button. The court holds a short term, the convict serves a short term and the law makes no distinction between terms and parts of terms. Beckman is serving a term as governor now and is ineligible for another term. Have we made it plain enough?

The Democratic committee of the judicial district composed of Daviss, Ohio, McLean and Hancock counties has found it necessary to increase the assessments of candidates for the primary to be held Nov. 4. The two candidates for judge have been raised $150 each and the candidates for commonwealth's attorney $75, making the fee for judges $75 each and for attorney $45. The total assessment is $1,975 for four counties, or about $20 to the precinct. The same rate for the whole State would make the cost of a State primary more than $40,000. Who said primary elections were not expensive?

Simply for information, The Record would like to know if Editor Meacham, of the Hopkinsville Daily Record, would oppose a plan to elect the officials of the Western Asylum by a primary?—Caldiz Record.

The editor of the Kentuckian has never opposed a primary election for purposes permitted by the party law, provided the candidates asked for it and voluntarily assumed the expenses. But in the matter suggested, why not resort to the time-honored game of craps, if the gang are unwilling to trust themselves in the hands of Gov. Hendrick, Gov.
Black or Gov. Breckenridge, as the case may be.

Ben Ringo, who has put up in advance $475 for a primary election nomination, with no opposition in his race for commonwealth's attorney, at Owensboro, probably is in a position to tell Jim Richardson whether or not primary elections are expensive. When the State committee meets, of which Ben is a member, he ought to be pretty well informed on the subject of $2,000 primary elections in judicial districts for four counties.

The Supreme Court of Nebraska, in a test case brought by Daniel Freeman, an atheist, has forbidden the reading of the Bible or the singing of sacred songs in the public schools of Nebraska. The judges hold that the Bible is sectarian and therefore its reading is unconstitutional.

THE NEW DEAL

Further Particulars of the Settlement of the Anglo-American Tobacco War—Some
Opinions.

The agreement entered into by the American and Imperial Tobacco Company for the settlement of the great Anglo-American Tobacco war, and the formation of the new British-American Tobacco Company, have been the absorbing topic of discussion among the trade during the past week. Just what the new deal signifies and what effect it will have on the trade seems to be a question which is variously answered and the solution is not very apparent. Many believe that there is more beneath the surface than in sight.

THINK AMERICAN WON.

A prominent official of the American Tobacco Company is quoted by The New York Herald, as follows:
"Peace has been signed. The present news means little more than that the war which has been waged at a great cost to both sides for more than a year has been concluded, and that an agreement has been reached which means that in the near future there will be formed an international corporation, a sort of world company, the first and greatest of its kind."

"There has been an impression prevailing that the Americans have been worsted in their contest in England and I think that when the truth is all known it will be found that a mistake has been made.
There has been a compromise, with the advantage resting with the Americans.

MR. GALLAHER'S OPINION.

Mr. Thomas Gallaher, the great tobacco manufacturer of Belfast, Ireland, was interviewed at Owensboro, Ky., a few days ago by the Owensboro Messenger, and said in part:

"Woe to the independent Leaf Tobacco dealer who tries to continue in business now. This new combination of the American Tobacco Company and the Imperial Companies of Great Britain is the greatest stroke towards the centralization of the world's tobacco interests that has ever been made. I want to assert right here it is an American victory and not a defeat. It is true that it is given out American interests will be given seats on the combined board, but that is a blind.
That company will have the Tobacco interests neck and crupper and J. B. Duke will be its Leading Spirit. How could the English control the Tobacco interests? Don't the American Tobacco Company control 80 per cent of the Cuban Tobacco Interests? In this deal the American Tobacco Company gets back all the money expended in the recent fight in England and will have the controlling interest. You can't get ahead of Mr. Duke.

"If this combination does not mean death to the independent leaf tobacco handler it certainly does not mean life. The independent dealers have heretofore found buyers in the Imperial companies, but they will not any more. What will they do with the stock bought by them? They will simply have to lay it away and wait until the trust gets ready to buy it. There is already a 2 1/2% supply of dark tobacco on hand in English warehouses, which itself cuts quite a figure in the market. The advice to the independent leaf dealer in this country is to go slow while you can.
What effect will it have on the independent manufacturers? Well, sir, in the British dominion it means that the small manufacturers will just have to go out of business.
I admit that I will have to do business on a smaller margin and must suffer like all the rest from the combination. You know the methods of the trust are to get the trade even though all competitors are driven out of business. Of course, all my manufactured goods are sold in the old country. There is one portion of my trade that will not be seriously affected, that is, the gold-rolled Cigarettes that we put out. I see no benefit to be derived from this combination except to the members of the corporation."

A Word to Travellers.

The excitement incident to traveling and change of food and water often brings on diarrhoea, and for this reason no one should leave home without a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by C. K. Wyly.

Dr. Medley's Patent.

Dr. G. E. Medley, of Gracey, has Seven patents were issued to other devises.

O. R. Larson, of Bay Villa, Sundays River, Cape Colony, conducts a store typical of South Africa, at which can be purchased anything from the proverbial "needle to an antelope." His store is situated in a valley nine miles from the nearest railway station and about twenty-five miles from the nearest town.

Mr. Larson says: "I am engaged with the custom of farmers and miners, who come to my store many of whom I have supplied Chamberlain's remedies. All testified to their value in a household where a doctor's advice is almost out of the question. Within one month of my store the population is perhaps 100. Of those within the past twelve months, no less than four have been absolutely cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This must surely be a record" For sale by C. K. Wyly.

Thompson-Calhoun.

Mr. John B. Thompson, a young man in the employ of Forbes & Bro., and Miss Eunice E. Calhoun, daughter of Mr. J. N. Calhoun, the well known tobacco dealer, were united in marriage Thursday night at the home of the bride. Elder H.
Smith performed the ceremony.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy Saved His Boy's Life.

"I believe I saved my (nine year old) boy's life this winter with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says A. M. Hoppe, Rio Creek, Mississippi. "My boy was so weak that he could not speak. I gave it to him freely until he vomited and in a short time he was all right." For sale by C. K. Wyly.

BURLESQUE CIRCUS.

Ejks' Lodge Will Pull Off a New and Novel Attraction.

The Elks' Circus, which shows at the Tabernacle Tuesday, October 21, is the biggest aggregation of the kind on the road, and furnishes amusement of an entirely different nature from that of any other big circus, such as Sell Bros., Ringling or Forepaugh.

The "big tent" covers the entire theater, and the menagerie includes rare specimens of performing animals, whose intelligence is almost human. Remarkable feats performed by the stupendous aggregation of Elks have set the world to wondering, but the audience may rest assured that the entertainment afforded will be perfectly safe. The wild animals are all caged, and could not get loose if they would, while the tame ones will be permitted to run loose among the spectators and living things up a bit.

Red lemonade will be permissible and children may feed the elephants.
The chariot races will make the world go round, and the man, woman or child who misses the performance will regret it ever after, and will never hold his peace.

G. A. Roberts of Dinten, Ill., suffered from a severe attack of colic and stomach trouble and could not eat.

his appetite, cured his stomach trouble and today he is well and hearty and says he owes his health to Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Peppermint.

NOTABLE KENTUCKIANS AT CENTURY'S DAWN.

An interesting Book Compiled By Ben La Bree Is Attracting Attention.

In "Notable Men of Kentucky at the Beginning of the Twentieth Century," Mr. Ben La Bree has given to the country a most interesting book. He has brought together in it splendid half-tones like-pictures of over 300 Kentucky men who have in their respective fields or spheres earned a share of public notice by reason of their intellectual talents and business ability. The publication may be classed as purely pictorial, as the titles and explanation to each cut are not lengthy. In every instance they have been condensed to between four and seven lines.

Mr. La Bree spent eighteen months in compiling this valuable work. He thus speaks of the inspiration that made the book possible.

"Men come upon the stage of life, play their respective parts in the great drama of time and events, and then pass away." Some, by reason of the impress which they make upon those of their time and generation, live on history, while others—the greater number—die and are forgotten. The love of posthumous fame is inherent in most men. Those who attain to distinction in life are solicitous that such distinction be transmitted as a legacy to their descendants, and to posterity outside the bonds of consanguinity. This is a noble instinct, one which prompts men to higher aims and deeds, and brings out of each his best and utmost endeavors to deserve the approbation of his fellow men. We love to contemplate the success of friends in their respective vocations, and to dwell upon their virtues after they have gone off the stage of life. In no way can we obtain such a comprehensive and pleasurable view of them, their just fame, their virtues and accomplishments as in a work like this."

The work is receiving many compliments and Mr. La Bree feels certain it will have general approval. The collection of likenesses is said to be the most comprehensive ever published outside of New York. More than 800 of the photographs were made especially for the book. The pictures have been classified into groups, affording at a glance a coterie of those who have been, or are, conspicuous in any particular vocation.

This is Mr. La Bree's seventh illustrated work. He is author of "The Pictorial Battles of the Civil War," "Camp Fires of the Confederacy," "Confederate Soldiers in the Civil War," and "Battlefield and Quarter Deck." He compiled Admiral Porter's "Naval History of the Civil War" and is editor and director of the publication of the "Historical Album Knights Templar," a story of the Triennial Convalescence August—Courier Journal.

Mexican Mustang Liniment is excellent for Rheumatism and all deep-seated pains.

For Sprains and Strains

It is useless to apply a liniment that remains on or near the surface. On the contrary, they require something that goes down into the flesh where the trouble is located. That is why

Mexican
Mustang
Liniment

is the best thing to use for sprains and strains. It penetrates at once to where the trouble is located and drives out the poison and the heat. It is a liniment that does not sting. Don't be hasty in using the liniment until fall takes it in.

THE EARL OF DUDLEY (Lord Cadogan's Successor as Lord Lieutenant of Ireland.)

titular Lady Dudley, dowager countess, stepped in and, calling a family council, insisted that affairs should be so managed that the country could receive only $50,000 a year pocket money.

He married Rachel Gurney, daughter of the London banker, in 1891, against the wishes of his family. Her mother was at one time socially involved with the prime minister, and later ran a theatrical establishment in London. The young earl has been parliamentary secretary to the board of trade since 1895, is mayor of Dudley and served in the Yeomanry cavalry in the Boer war.

Much Smoke, Little Fire.

A pair of corsets were the innocent cause of much excitement in Bloomfield, N. J., the other day. During a visit a score or half a dozen women descended on the roof of a fruit store and in a few moments later the rooms in the establishment were filled with smoke. Firemen were summoned to make an investigation because an explosion was expected. The building had been heated high and long, but could find no fire.

The smoke grew denser and finally one of the firemen found a pair of corsets that had been placed in the storefront for safe-keeping.
